

SOUTH FROM BARLEY

The history of the South family and their potteries

210 mm x 148.5 mm (A5)

132 pages

19 photographs

2 plans

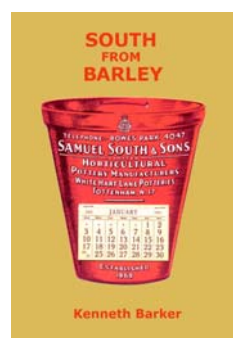

Appendices

Endnote references

Index

Perfect bound

Full colour cover (right)

The history begins in the Hertfordshire village of Barley and follows the journey of the South family southwards to London and further afield to New Zealand. The founding of the Edmonton pottery by Joseph South in 1868 is described and how the supply of flowerpots to the Lea Valley nurserymen continued for nearly 100 years.

Contents

Part 1 Joseph South; Samuel South(1); Samuel South(2);

Part 2 Angel Road Pottery; White Hart Lane Pottery; White Hart Lane Site; Operation of White Hart Lane Pottery;

Appendix 1; Appendix 2; References; Index.

The narrative includes descriptions of Snells Park, Devonshire Hill Farm, River House and South Brothers.

HOW TO ORDER

The price of the book is £6 per copy and can be ordered by sending cheque for £6 made payable to K. Barker and addressed to:

K. Barker
64 Morris Way
London Colney
Herts. AL2 1JN

Price includes UK post and packing (overseas rates on application).

Orders will usually be dispatched within 48 hours by second class post.

Details can also be found at www.samuelsouth.btinternet.co.uk